WATER IS A PRECIOUS

... commodity, but none of us like to see it raging through our homes, destroying everything in sight.

That's certainly what happened in Hondo again last Friday when more water fell on this South Texas town in a shorter period of time than ever before, something like 12-13 inches in less than 12 hours.

Approximately 40 homes were damaged in the east side of Hondo, the area hardest hit whenever it floods. It is tragic that these people have to suffer each time high water comes through.

However, there is a brighter side to the coin in my personal opinion. And the brighter side to this coin is the clearing work the city finally performed in that area this past year.

Some will say it was "too little and too late," but I firmly believe that last Friday had that area been in the same shape it was in 1971, with nothing cleared out at the railroad trestle and the highway crossing and above them, much of that area would have been completely under water and homes that had never been hit before would have received water damage.

The hard fact is that we had a tremendous amount of water fell on Hondo in a brief span of time. It is doubtful that the best drainage system in the world could have prevented flooding.

Water was rushing down 17th Street, something many people said they had never seen. It went into downtown businesses whose owners said was "the first time." It was in some areas in the south part of town that had never seen water.

This is not to say that perhaps something else can be done to help the drainage system. But where are you going to begin. When the city held a series of meetings on flood insurance, and possible drainage relief some of the recommendations given by the "so called experts" on flooding included moving several of the homes away from the immediate flood channel. This met with disapproval from the homeowners, and I can't really blame them.

However, there must be some remedies that have been suggested which can prove of value in attempting to alleviate this problem. I said alleviate, because I do not feel it can ever be eliminated without going the extremely expensive route recommended a couple of years ago. I think the cost was estimated at $2,400,000 and this plan was the one that called for moving homes out of the area.

So I am certain the City Council will receive some criticism about the recent flooding at their regular meeting on September 10. I personally don't feel such criticism will be justified. For despite the fact they were much too late with the work they did in the east area of town, they did something and I believe that something kept the area from suffering much heavier damages.

One thing that can certainly be prevented is vehicles driving willy-nilly through the downtown area when such flooding occurs.

Vehicles cause waves that send volumes of water into the stores causing damage. And unless it is an emergency vehicle, this is absolutely unnecessary. There were far too many people "just driving around" to see what they could see last Friday.

I feel that an emergency system must be established by the city where barricades can be set up immediately at all critical points. It would eliminate some of the Millions of gallons of water washed through Hondo and Medina County last Friday causing damage to homes, businesses and roads as heavy clouds dumped up to 14 inches of water on the area.

This second "hundred year" flood in three years again hit the east side of Hondo more savagely than other areas, causing people to evacuate their homes for higher land. It was estimated that from 40-50 homes had water in them, and many people were evacuated by fire truck, city, county and private vehicles to the County Courthouse.

There they were met by Lupe Alvarez, County Red Cross Disaster chairman, with food and drinks.

Downtown Hondo again was a rushing river as water streamed down Avenue M into 17th and 18th Streets, going into several business houses along the way. This time the water got into businesses that the 1971 flood did not reach.

Bill Hare at the Weather Radar Station said in a talk to the Lions Club that prior to 1970 rainfall in any one month had seldom reached double figures since 1940, in fact, only once or twice. He also told Lions that D'Hanis for many years held the world record for rainfall in 24 hours, getting some 24 inches at one time.

Reports from the area showed the Verde Creek going over the new bridge on State Highway 173 by two or three feet, and the bridge is four feet higher than the old bridge. Rain fell along the Verde much heavier than it did on the Hondo Creek, therefore, the Hondo did not go over the bridge on Highway 90.

E. J. Williams said the water from the Hondo was almost four feet lower this time than in 1973.

Many farmers and ranchers reported miles and miles of fence washed down, or away. Some said they might even have cattle missing, but were not certain.

County Judge Jerome Decker said many gravel or dirt roads over the county were completely washed out and in Hondo, Street Superintendent Lloyd Hermes reported heavy damage to streets.

Dr. O. B. Taylor, of the Taylor-Chapman Service, gave the following reports of rain in the area: Hondo - Aug. 29, 1.65; August 30, 12.10 inches; Rancho Chico, 7; Short Ranch (E.J.L.), 10.20; Elmer Bader, 9.30; J. Lynch, 11; Castrovilla, 11.45; Geo. Munnink, 12; D'Hanis, 9; John Britsch, 10.50; Bushwack, 7; A. Timmerman, 8; R. Hartman, 8; Yancey, 4.50; Les Munnink, 16; M. Fohn, 12; Gus Rothe, 6; J. Coyle, 12.30; Pat Wernette, 8.20; Hilly Mumme, bucketfull; F. Bohl, 5.40; H. Howard, 5.40; Jerome Decker, 10.

On Monday night, September 2, the clouds, thunder and lightning gave indications of a repeat performance, but as Doc Taylor said, it was a "dry thunderstorm" with some rain falling on the upper Hondo. He did say it would rain a little on Sept. 3 -- and it did.

Owls open 1974 football season in Fredericksburg

In their initial football action of the season in Fredericksburg Friday night against the Billies, Coach David Howard's Hondo Owls will have to prove "they are little but loud" if they come out on the long end of the scoreboard.

They will be facing plenty of weight against a Fredericksburg team that figures its defense is sound and its offense promising enough to bid for a trophy in District 14-AAA.

Stalwarts Ben Frantzen (6-1-219) at linebacker and tackle Wayne Seipp (6-2, 215) are major all-star candidates. Defensively, Sheldon Alberthal (6-3, 245) is going to be hard to push out of any line.

Coach Carlin Wicker welcomed back 8 defensive starters and 2 offensive starters and he has quarterback Dean Herbolt, after breaking a leg last year and seeing no action.

But this year Herbolt is expected to add sharper passing to the Billie offensive which will include Sidney Klinksiek (6-1, 185) Ben Kusenberg, Kerry Kordzik and Elgin Durt.

Other Billies who will see plenty of action Friday night the Owls include: tackle Mark Dare, 220; guard Tim Dartz (6-3, 190); center Mark Erdling (1-10, 165); split end Keith Jenkins (6-0, 190) and tackle, Byron Schaeffer (6-0, 194).

Fredericksburg doesn't boast excessive speed in the backfield, but with its up front forces making holes speed isn't that important.

Against what might be termed a formidable mountain of flesh, Coach Howard will throw the following tentative aggregation

Agribusiness seminar set

Agribusiness leaders in Medina County can begin planning to attend the second annual Agribusiness Seminar to be held in Hondo on October 15 and 16.

These dates and other plans were outlined Tuesday at a meeting of members of the planning committee.

Connie Koch sworn in as County Clerk

Connie Koch will get a little extra time in the County Clerk job after what happened Friday.

As a candidate for the position held the last several years by Henry Schulte, she had not expected to assume command until January 1.

But Friday Henry Schulte decided to end his reign and retire. So Connie was sworn in and is now the County Clerk of Medina County.

Public hearing set Monday on County budget

All interested county residents should note there will be a public hearing on the proposed County budget September 9.

The hearing will be held in the office of County Judge Jerome Decker at the Courthouse beginning at 10 a.m. Monday.

All interested parties are invited to attend.

tee. The event is co-sponsored each year by the Agribusiness Committee of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce and the County Extension Service.

The two-night program will feature Ken Wolf, economist-agribusiness of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It will include such subjects as: Hiring and Breaking in a New Worker, Communicating with a Work Force, Organize for Efficiency, Increasing Employee Satisfaction and Productivity Through Awards and Incentives, Appraisal of an Employee's Work, Case Problems, Delegation of Work.

Set for the New Frontier Restaurant in Hondo, the Agribusiness Seminar will include a steak dinner in the $5 per person registration fee.

County Agent Glenn Bragg and Chamber Committee Chairman J. D. Schmidt said that information will be mailed to agribusinesses in the county. It will include a registration form for the owners managers and their employees.

BAND BOOSTERS TO MEET

Hondo Band Boosters will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the Audio Visual Room at the high school. All parents of band members are urged to attend.

CULTURAL CENTER ... The famous Bolshoi Theatre where the Bolshoi Ballet performs in Moscow is just one of the many theatres for the performing arts. These theatres, museums, art galleries and other cultural events attracts thousands of ordinary Soviet citizens daily. The Bolshoi Ballet was in England during the Lawrence's visit to Moscow, but we did attend a fine folkloric choir and dancing performance.

Soviet experiences interesting to publisher

By Burnis Lawrence

The question asked Patricia and me most since our return from our Texas Press Association People-To-People Tour of Western and Eastern Europe has been: "What did you think of Russia?"

This question could be answered two ways. First, I could give the impression we had of the Soviet Union based on what we had read or heard about the country prior to going. Or, secondly, I can try to give the impressions we came home with, the things we saw and heard pure and plain without trying to embellish them with opinions tinted by prior convictions.

Our entry into Moscow, which incidentally is in the Republic of Russia, was not the best beginning for an eight day stay.

The three hour flight from Zurich on a Soviet airline wasn't bad although it was kinda crowded. Along on our flight was the Soviet's Number two Cosmonaut, but since he sat up front we did not see him. He sat in a three seat row and they cleared the three seats in front and in back of him so he wouldn't be bothered. Anyway, one of the women in our group came on the plane a little late and sat in front of him in one of the empty seats, but the stewardess had her move.

Long Wait

We waited 50 minutes for our luggage and were scrutinized very closely going through passport control. Then in customs I got lost off from the rest and they had to come back to rescue me from the young woman who refused to let me leave because my ticket number did not coincide with that number on my bag -- somehow I had Patricia's number and she had mine, but she had gone through.

It was sort of hairy not being able to explain to her what had happened and deduct from her gestures to step aside that I was not going anywhere until she made the decision. And she was right: I didn't.

At no point on our trip did the Soviet inspectors go through our luggage.

We arrived at the Intourist Hotel, a modern 18 story affair built in 1972, at about 10 p.m. After eating, we all took a walk along Gorky Street, underneath the square in the subway system, and up to Red Square. The Square and Lenin's tomb were both under repair so actually all we did was look from a distance. It was fairly well lighted, although at that time of the night there was still light of day.

The Intourist Hotel, as I described in a previous article, was designed by a Finnish architect (I think) and went all out in the ornate lobbies, restaurants, bars, but skimpy on room space and closet space. The bathroom facilities were adequate, except for the tissue which any young dog would describe it in one agonized yowl "Ruff!!!"

Each floor has its own desk where a woman takes care of your keys and also directs the cleaning of the rooms on that floor.

Someone wanted to know, since we returned to Hondo, if we were watched or followed while there. I don't know and I really doubt it. Although some in our group were thoroughly convinced that we were followed, watched, our rooms were

Dear Burnis:
In the upcoming October issue of ALL OUTDOORS magazine, your deer-hunter readers should find a story of particular interest; a how-to article on horn rattling for Southwest Texas bucks. We did the story last fall based on a hunt and interview with D'Hanis rancher Howard Rothe, a long time aficionado of this exciting and sport technique.

4-H Dog Care

The Hondo 4-H Dog Care and Training Club is meeting weekly on Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. at the Medina County Junior Livestock Show Barn.

4-H Dog Care and Training projects are one of the most practical animal projects for many youth today. Since many youth have a natural desire for owning an animal, the care and training of a dog is a good beginning for developing patience and training methods. Youth with a dog can learn a variety of things about animal care ranging from methods of simple housing and feeding to basic veterinary care and highly skilled showmanship techniques.

The awards program and show opportunities make the Dog Care and Training project even more inviting to youth. A national award program offers medals on a county basis. Trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago and scholarships for national winners are also available.

The 4-H dog project provides the materials, training and activities to help a young person gain the most pleasure out of owning a dog. It also meets the basic need of a youth to care for an animal of his own.

Youth interested in the 4-H dog project are to contact the county extension office or Mrs. George Cole, Hondo Dog Care and Training Project leader.

Chamber Corner

Sister May Cronin, who hails from Manchester, New Hampshire, dropped by and signed the guest book. She was in Hondo giving it a look-see. If she likes the town, she might stay here and take over the responsibility of Youth Religion Education at St. John's Catholic Church.

They come from far and near to hunt in Medina County -- and usually more want to come than we have room -- or deer -- for.

Just look at this one: "Dear Sirs"

"I hope I am addressing the right party, and if I am not, then perhaps you could advise me as to whom I could write to."

"Last year I came to Texas during deer hunting season and I hunted in a ranch in Helotes at that time it was leased by a Mr. Pope from Hondo. Well now he doesn't have that lease anymore so I don't know where else to go. I wonder if you folks could send me the names, addresses and phone numbers of ranchers with such daily deer hunting leases within 40 or 50 miles from Hondo or right near, it doesn't matter. There are several of us coming to Texas at the beginning of the season on or about the 15th of November or the 18th, and we only have one week so we must be sure of a place to hunt."

"Hoping to hear from you soon I remain yours truly, Theo C. Flores, Lima, Ohio."

Other letters came from George C. Guthrie of San Antonio who wanted a fishing lease; SSgt Kenneth Baker of San Antonio who wanted a dove lease.

Mrs. Marolyn Stubblefield, coordinator of outreach services at the San State Hospital, asked for organizations, county judge, mayor, priests, preachers or ministers for a project the hospital is working on now.

David Meyer of Norwood, Ohio, simply said "Please send me a list of things to see."

And Dee Richards of Peoria, Illinois, wanted a list of clubs, organizations, schools and churches in the community.

Oh, does the Post Office like us each week when our outgoing mail heads for so many places. For instance, this past week we have mailed letters to Norwood, Ohio; Phoenix, Arizona, Lima, Ohio; and in Texas: El Campo, Edna, Galveston, Clute, Shelbyville, Galena Park, Pasadena, Crosby, Greenville, Baytown, Denton, Point Comfort, Killeen, Temple, Conroe, Beaumont, Deer Park, Corpus Christi, Henderson, Castroville, Austin, 12 to Houston, eight to San Antonio and two to Ft. Worth.

The majority of these are seeking hunting leases so you can readily see why hunting is such a big industry.

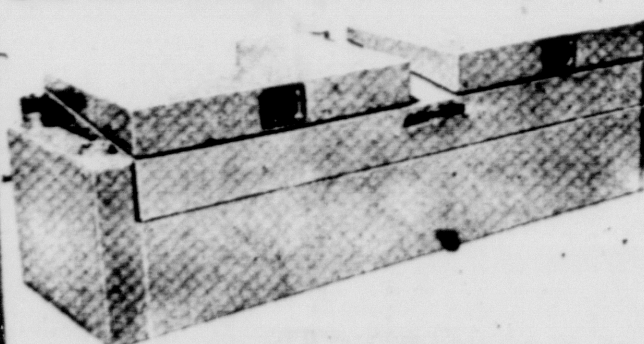

Two houses have been listed, requests 3, referrals 10, other 2; Maps, brochures and cards 4; Hunting, 10; Adult education 4, other 12.

Bailey says he won't be candidate

Bradley Bailey, who has served Medina County for the past 15 years as a director on the Edwards Underground Water District board, said this week that he will not be a candidate for that spot this year.

"I went on the board as a representative from Medina County when the district was formed 15 years ago," Bailey said. "So I think I will step aside when my term ends January 1."

bugged and all that spy bit. But as I say, Pat and I never saw any evidence of it and were certainly not concerned about it.

Bugged Maybe?

One couple in our group found what they described as an electrical outlet in their bathroom which they couldn't recognize, so to prevent from being heard in case they were bugged they just talked low or didn't say anything important.

For the life of me, I can't figure why I could have said that would have interested the Soviets, unless it was a new joke they hadn't heard.

On Monday we went on a tour of the city by bus. Moscow has 7.5 million people and the government has guidelines which will not let it grow past that point. Each worker is registered and has a work permit, so when he or she comes from another city they first have to be granted a work permit or they cannot live there. This holds true with other Soviet cities and we found to our surprise that West Berlin has the same system.

Our guide, Lydia, to whom I introduced you in a previous story, spoke excellent English. She has worked in the American and English division of Intourist for four years. Intourist handles all phases of accommodating tourists who visit the Soviet Union -- hotels, buses, guides, tours. Last year approximately 65,000 American tourists visited the country.

It's plain to see why they are now allowing the Americans to come in. The country needs the money. Their ruble is not on world

Miss Debra Lynn Howard bride of Jearl Wayne Johnson

On Saturday, July 27, 1974, Miss Debra Lynn Howard and Mr. Jearl Wayne Johnson were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church of Hondo. Given in marriage by her father, A. R. Howard of Corpus Christi, the bride wore a floor length gown made of unbleached muslin. It had an empire waistline and a scoop neckline. The dress was trimmed with lace down the front and back and also down the sleeves. Her headpiece was a Juliet style cap with an elbow length veil. The bride was attended by Miss Susan Rogers of Hondo, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Schueling, Miss Janet Graff, both of Hondo, Mrs. Sue Johnson, Channelview, and Mrs. Wanda Wagon, sister of the bride of Corpus Christi.

Johnson, Channelview, and Mr. Glynn Johnson, Dayton, both brothers of the groom; Bill Howard, brother of the bride, of Austin; and Benjie Wagon of Corpus Christi.

Ring bearer was Dwayne Johnson of Dayton, Texas. Music selections were played by Mrs. Madis Keath and sung of Jackie Winkler, both of Hondo. They were "Sweet, Sweet Spirit," "The Wedding Song," "Follow Me," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Come Saturday Morning." Mrs. Marilyn Landers accompanied Mr. Winkler on "Sweet, Sweet Spirit" and Larry Winkler accompanied his brother on the guitar on "Follow Me."

Flower girl was Miss Toy Winkler of Hondo. The bridesmaids wore floor length dresses made of yellow dotted swiss with empire waistlines and butterfly sleeves. They wore white hats trimmed with yellow ribbon and daisies. The carried bouquets of daisies accented with baby's breath.

Best man was Bill Shelton of Willis, Texas. Groomsmen were Ray

Reservation open for fall visits

"The height of the summer travel season is over for the Alabama-Cou-chatta Indian Reservation, but activities will not come to a halt," stated Emmett Battise, Superintendent of the East Texas Indian Reservation near Livingston. "In fact, construction has started to improve and add to our recreation center for the many visitors coming into our area. We will be adding more camping spaces on the lake in addition to building an Amphitheater where an original outdoor drama will be presented during the Summer months when completed."

The Fall activities beginning in September will be reduced to special tours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

These tours will include the Big Thicket Tour, Indian Country Tour, Train Ride, Living Indian Village Tour and the Reptile Garden Tour. On weekends, a full program including the colorful Indian dances will open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sundays from 12:30 to 6 p.m. The Gift Shop and Restaurant will also be open each day.

Camp Fire meeting slated

A meeting will be held at 8 p.m. September 9 for all parents and their daughters who are interested in the Camp Fire program.

This week All she wrote

by Edna McDade

It was good to hear [through a story in our C.C. morning paper of 8/26] that CASTROVILLE's 92nd annual St. Louis Day Parish picnic was the happy success it always deserves to be. Team work!
Among the most dedicated and loyal transplants to Medina County is JIM MENKE, whom the story classified as "the local historian". He was on the job helping identify whose families belonged to which of the pioneers whom Henry Castro was responsible for introducing to new homes in Texas in the mid 1800's. What an adventure the group, planning to accompany Fr. LAWRENCE STEUBEN to France next year will have! [It might be un-Christian to "envy" ... but this Methodist freely admits to a slight tinge, anyway.]

One evening this week as I listened to the evening CBS news, I saw a man who reminded me of Hondo's TOM KUYKENDALL. I was both pleased and surprised, when he was identified as Rep. DAN KUYKENDALL of Tennessee who is Tom's brother.

Although I was unable to find out who Arnold Glasgow is [or was] this quotation which I found credited to him in some recent reading says a lot in a few words: "PATRIOTISM is collective responsibility." It seems particularly applicable in these troublesome and often perplexing times.

It always pleases me to see "by PEGGY SIMPSON" [a former AH Editor] on AP releases datelined Washington. She never wastes words and her "style" is that of a good journalist, telling it like it is to whom [and about whom or what] it may concern. Last week she by-lined a "Political Bias" story cut from what must have been "straight" material.

The "yellow ribbon tied 'round the old oak tree" at THE OTHER PLACE, on US 90 West must be wearing well. When I noticed it [perhaps in 1972?], I mentioned it and wondered what it was all about.

A gracious letter from Mrs. EDDIE CROW explained it to this reporter who never keep up with the last tune on the list, let along the Top Ten! I hope someone sent KATHY AMES of Houston, age 12, a copy of SPARKS 8/15 for her scrapbook, assuming that girls still keep such "treasures".

Picture of the "Corny Things" made by members of the Hondo Art League took me back to the "point in time" of my early school days.

The "in" thing then was to see who could make the snazziest hat out of braided corn shucks, although, down Laredo-way, most surplus shucks went in to tamales and "muy sabrosos" they were!

Because I cherish so many happy, unforgettable memories of what once seemed like almost care-free days of Gulf fishing [seasickness 'n' all], I am saddened a bit to read in many sports columns about "Tarpon Troubles."

Thirty-five, or perhaps even 15 or 20 years ago, Tarpon were Big Business along this section [and others] of the Gulf coast. "Not no more," the tarpon aficionados complain reminiscently, and the first dozen or so original annual Tarpon Rodeos were great sport.

Now tarpon have thinned to a trickle along our coast and many reasons are offered by way of explanation, none of which help the situation.

I lost one tarpon after a good fight, when the line broke at the leader swivel. With what was known as "fisherman's luck", the very next tarpon I brought to gaff has my missing leader firmly imbedded in his jaw but he was a mighty tired fish and didn't put up much of a fight. [In those days, we released all tarpon not considered eligible "trophy size" for the competition.]

The old saying that "All God's children got troubles" now applies even to the popcorn industry. Tough on the movie goers, too.

The executive director of the Popcorn Institute [I didn't know there was such an organization] predicts, "We're going to run out of popcorn. There very definitely will not be enough to go around this year."

What to do? Do without, seems a likely solution. A local man, now 90 years of age, and a former head of the local weather bureau, says he believes that severe tropical storms are more apt to form about the time of the new moon of the four-phase lunar cycle, most likely five or six days before or after the new moon.

So far, we seem to have sneaked past the July and August new moons. But, we'd better not "perder cuidado" for the next new moon is dated for "el Diez y seis."

I am sending the news clipping to Dr. OBT who will be interested, I'm sure.

Sgt. BILL GREEN used to tease one of his children [I've forgotten which one] by saying that [she or he] "was just like a goose, wakes up in a new world every morning."

I contend that this might have certain advantages. However, this is just a sneaky way of passing on something I learned about geese from a news story about the Clayville Folks Art Guild [near Springfield, Ill.] Members of the Guild are demonstrating to Illinois State Fair visitors "fold arts that have all but vanished in the nation."

One such is how to pluck goosefeathers. [Remember the old wise-crack, "How do you get down from a horse?" Answer: "You can't. You get down from a goose!"]

To continue: Geese molt every four to six weeks, when down can be plucked from each bird. It takes the down from ten large geese to produce enough feathers for one pillow.

Secret of happy down plucking, says one experienced hand, is to pet the goose, talking softly, so the plucking doesn't cause biting or flapping about.

Miss Barbara Berger exchanges vows with Glenn Stephen Wilson

Miss Barbara Berger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Berger of Austin and formerly of Hondo, became the bride of Glenn Stephen Wilson of San Antonio, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wilson of that city, Saturday evening, August 31. The double ring ceremony was written by the groom and solemnized in First United Methodist Church of Austin by the Rev. Jack Heacock, pastor of First United Methodist, and assisted by Dr. Lowell Ryan of Corpus Christi.

The bride's formal gown of silk organza was designed with a sleeveless crescent bodice and a portrait neckline. Imported Venetian lace enhanced the neckline, forming a wide collar. The softly gathered skirt of the gown extended into the back forming a chapel length train. It was edged in the same lace. Venice medallions adorned the bodice and the skirt of the gown.

Her fingertip silk illusion veil was outlined in matching lace and had the Venetian medallions accenting the mantilla. She wore an amethyst drop, a family heirloom, that had been given to her by a great aunt. She carried a cascade of coral roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Frances Thomas of Austin and matron of honor was Mrs. Edward Berger of Annandale, Va., a sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Lydia Miller and Miss Linda Gorzycki, both of Austin, and Miss Holly Wilson, sister of the groom, of San Antonio.

The gowns of coral linen were fashioned with short sleeves, fitted bodices and portrait necklines. The skirts were slightly flaring. The waistline of each dress was outlined with coral and avocado embroidery over coral velvet ribbon. Coral velvet streamers fell from a bow at the back. The embroidery on velvet was repeated in a narrow band around the neck. Each carried a single long-stemmed coral rose.

Best man was John Wilson, brother of the groom, from Odessa. Groomsmen were Ricky King, Ronnie King, and Jimmy Scofield all of San Antonio, and Ed Berger, brother of the bride, from Annandale, Va. Jeff Berger, brother of the bride, of Austin, served as an additional usher.

The bride is a graduate of The University of Texas, Austin. She was secretary, then president, of the University chapter of Public Relations Student Society of America and was a member of Women in Communication. She is in public relations with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, San Antonio, and is editor of the regional Telephone Times.

The groom attended San Antonio College and College of the Ozarks in Arkansas. He is a sales representative for Texas Type, Incorporated, of San Antonio.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Westwood Country Club. A lighted coral fountain centered the four-tiered bride's cake. The white cake was decorated with pastel coral roses and avocado colored leaf confections. The groom's cake was German chocolate, double wedding ring design, decorated with autumn colored flower confections.

Following a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., the couple will be at home in San Antonio.

Rehearsal Dinner

Following the wedding rehearsal Friday evening, the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wilson, hosted a dinner for the participants. It was held in the Headliners Club.

Tech students on roll

LUBBOCK -- A total of 2 Texas Tech University students from Hondo were recognized for academic achievement during the spring semester and were listed on the deans' honor rolls.

To qualify for the recognition, students must achieve a grade average of 3.0 on a 4 point scale.

Hondo students were Connie L. Schuehling, 1406 26th St., College of Home Economics; and Annette M. Aelvoet, Rt. 1, Box 306A, Colleges of Arts and Sciences.

Schneider - Teer wedding vows exch exchanged

Miss Deborah Ann Schneider became the bride of William Charles Teer on Saturday, July 6, 1974, in a double-ring ceremony at St. Louis Catholic Church with Rev. George Stuebben officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Suehs, Castroville, and Mrs. Ruby Teer, Hondo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a full-length gown of Chantilly lace, which featured a square neckline, fitted bodice and sheer lace sleeves that came to a point over the wrists. Highlighting the gown was an elbow-length veil of organza trimmed with Chantilly lace and a 7 ft. train of Chantilly lace. The bridal bouquet featured yellow carnations and white roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Robin green served as maid of honor. Judy Willis, Donna Morawetz, Mary Jo Noonan and Claire Christilles were bridesmaids. The flower girl, Pamela Tschirhart, scattered yellow carnation petals along the aisle of the church as the bride ascended to the altar. Jay Vnech was ring bearer. The bridesmaids wore princess-style green dotted swiss dresses with white daisy hearts. The dresses featured puffed sleeves, yellow rose trim and ties in the back. They wore floppy hats with gold velvet trim and carried long-stemmed yellow carnations with green and yellow streamers.

Clyde Schuehle served as best man. Groomsmen were Thomas Schneider, brother of the bride, Tim Huesser, David Wharton and Joe Schuehling. Ushers were Robert Marquis, John Suehs and Rodney Hitzfelder.

The bride's mother wore a yellow formal with orange and yellow trim while the groom's mother was attired in a peach-colored formal. Both wore corsages of yellow carnations and peach-colored roses.

A reception and dance were held at Koenig Park. Debbie Persyn presided at the bride's book and Judy Mechler, Leona Weyand and Linda Haby served the wedding cakes.

The couple honeymooned at Marble Falls before returning to Castroville where they are making their home.

Prior to the wedding, a rehearsal supper was held at a Hondo restaurant.

Cheerful Chatter

By Pat House

"If ye have faith, nothing shall be impossible to you." Matthew 17:20

That's one thing we don't lack at the Convalescent Center, faith!

Since we've started to plan for the forthcoming bazaar, our arts and crafts class has grown and the residents are busily working on their projects.

The Cheer-Aiders are planning an ice cream social at the Center this month and everyone is looking forward to that. However, the weather is soooo cool outside as I write this, maybe we should change that to a hot chocolate party!

I don't want you to forget our Forty-Two Special coming up on September 12th from 2 to 4 p.m. Response to our invitation to participate in Senior Citizen activities has been smaller than anticipated. Surely you can spare a couple of hours for fun!

Take time out right now and call Judy Winkler at 426-2124 and sign up for this Forty-Two special event. If you're unable to make that date, then join us in some of our regularly scheduled fun. Games on Mondays and Wednesdays, 2:30-3:30 p.m.; Arts and Crafts, 10 a.m. each Tuesday; and Cards and Dominoes all day Friday.

In talking to several people interested in joining our volunteer Cheer-Aiders, I'm finding that there are some misconceptions floating around. If a person joins this group, she doesn't have to commit herself to a definite day or definite time. She may participate when she can. The only definite scheduled event is the monthly meeting when all the Cheer-Aiders get together and discuss plans or projects in the making and to welcome new volunteers. And guess what? It just so happens our next meeting is coming up Monday, September 9th at 10 a.m. So come on and find out what's happening. For more information, call Judy Winkler 426-2124 or Pat House, 426-4883.

Capt. Nauman named 'instructor of month'

Captain John D. S. Nauman, Chief of the Security Assistance Training Program in the Academic Branch of the Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, has edged out a host of competitors to capture the Instructor of the Month honors for July 1974.

A veteran of five years with the U. S. Air Force, Captain Nauman has been both a classroom and flying training instructor for more than three years. During this time he has given instruction to more than 1,100 foreign student pilots.

These students represented a number of countries including Vietnam, Bolivia, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Iran, Kuwait, Nigeria and many others. They were in the United States to receive training under the Security Assistance Training Program, formerly known as the Military Assistance Training Program.

"As an Instructor it is always satisfying to see a student gain knowledge that will aid him in his quest to earn the silver wings of a fully qualified pilot," commented Captain Nauman.

"I and my fellow instructors feel greatly honored to have the opportunity to act as ambassadors for the United States in establishing friendships and exchanging ideas with these foreign students - many of whom will go on to become leaders in their own countries."

Commissioned in May 1969 at OTS, Captain Nauman has completed tours of duty with the 3526

Student Squadron, Williams Air Force Base, Arizona; 3389 Pilot Training Squadron, Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi; and the 12th Flying Training Wing, Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, before coming to OTS in May 1973.

Captain Nauman summed up his feelings as an instructor with the Flying Operations Division of OTS with the following statement, "I am proud to be a part of this unique training program for I am sure that my experiences with these foreign students have made me a better instructor as well as a better person."

HONORED... Capt. John D. S. Nauman, an instructor at the Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, presents the Academic instruction of Flying Training to a class of foreign students. Captain Nauman has been selected Instructor of the Month for July at OTS.

OUT OF BASIC... Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice David W. Ricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe N. Ricks Sr. of 612 Crouch, Devine, graduated from basic training at the Coast Guard Training Center at Alameda, Calif. He is scheduled to report to the U. S. Coast Guard Training Center, Alameda, Calif.

AFTERMATH... These are just two of the street areas hit so hard by the flooding last Friday. Both pictures were taken on 16th Street east of Avenue K. That street becomes a rushing spillway when it floods and last week was no exception. These shots by Tony Mendoza show areas that had been paved, but looked like this after the flood.

When toothbrushes were first introduced in the 18th century, many dentists bristled, in the belief that they would be harmful to teeth and gums.

Red Cross aids area families in damages caused by flood

Flood waters forced over 175 persons from their homes on Friday in Hondo and caused considerable loss of property. Phillip I. Royal, a Division Representative with the Texas Gulf Coast Division of the American National Red Cross, advised that about forty families in Hondo and another ten or so families in Natalia, LaCoste, Devine, Knippa and Castroville would be eligible for assistance from the Red Cross.

Royal was joined by other staff members in bringing assistance to disaster victims. Jack Haynes, disaster reservist from New Braunfels, Reuben Wehmeyer, Division Representative and Ed Arnold, Division Representative, assisted Royal who directed the operation.

In addition, local volunteers provided the vital link in casework and communications to make the assistance available to local flood victims. Lupe Alvarez, local disaster chairman, for the Medina County Chapter of the Red Cross, was of tremendous value in assisting with mass sheltering and feeding of victims in the Courthouse on Friday. In addition, Mrs. Dorothy Beard, Miss Jacqueline Fitzpatrick and Miss Donna Zerr worked long hours throughout the holiday weekend to assist victims with basic needs.

Royal emphasized that without the cooperation of city and county officials, the job that the Red Cross has been doing would have been extremely difficult. He said that he was especially appreciative of Judge Jerome Decker's assistance in making the County Courthouse and offices available as an assistance center.

As of late Tuesday, 34 families had made application for assistance and $4,000 had been committed to families in Hondo, Devine, LaCoste, Natalia and Knippa for replacement of basic necessities lost or destroyed by flood waters. Royal said that he anticipated final costs to reach $6,000.

Ed Arnold, said that he anticipates closing the assistance Center in the County Courthouse on Thursday at noon and urged any persons who might need assistance to make application before Wednesday afternoon. Any persons wishing to volunteer or make contributions for local flood relief should contact Lupe Alvarez at the Super-Sav Superette or come by the Assistance Center in the Courthouse.

GIVEN CERTIFICATE. George Persyn is presented a $10 Gift Certificate by County Agent Glenn Bragg for making the closest estimate to the highest yielding Grain Sorghum Variety on the Junior Schuehle Farm during the July County Crop Tour.

Crops Tour winners named in yield estimate event

Edwin and Fred Yanta of Devine were winners of gift certificates for making the closest estimate of the highest yielding Corn and Grain Sorghum variety in the test plots located on Junior Schuehle and Henry Lee Keller farms, according to Glenn Bragg, County Extension Agent.

During the July Medina County Crops Tour, which was sponsored by the Devine Chamber of Commerce, the persons making the closest estimate of the highest yielding Corn and Grain Sorghum varieties were to receive a $25.00 gift certificate from E. R. Leinweber Company of Hondo and Keller and Keller Company of Castroville.

Fred Yanta estimated that the Asgrow 403 Corn variety on Henry Lee Keller farm would yield 110 bushels per acre. The variety yielding the highest was Asgrow 403 which produced 106 bushels per acre. Fred was presented a $25 gift certificate since he made the closest estimate to the top yielding variety.

Edwin Yanta split the gift certificate on the Grain Sorghum test plot with Glendon Boehme and George Persyn, both from Castroville. All three of these individuals estimated that the Star 61 variety located on Junior Schuehle farm would yield 4350 pounds per acre. The actual yield was 4346 pounds per acre. A $10 gift certificate from E. R. Leinweber Company of Hondo was presented to each of these men.

The results of these result demonstrations and others conducted in the County will be printed in the 1974 Result Demonstration Handbook and distributed to local producers, says Bragg.

Still more about... Soviet Experiences

exchange and they can certainly use any new money coming in. When a Soviet citizen visits another country, he is allowed only so much money to take along.

We saw the University of Moscow, a large, beautifully impressive place where all students are given 40 rubles (about $50) per month to attend. Those who live outside Moscow may stay in the dormitories, but Moscow natives must find living space some other place. Dorms cost students about 2 rubles and 50 kopeks per month (about $3.50).

Moscow residents do drive cars, but the streets are not packed with them as our American cities. In fact, the government discourages the use of cars because of pollution. Our guide said they are extremely expensive. The government provides cheap mass transportation. There are electric buses, trams, trolleys, and the Metro, the underground subway system. For five kopeks, about eight cents, one can ride the Metro all day long. And the underground Metro stations are literally out of this world. They are brilliantly decorated with mosaics, paintings, marble pillars and everything that would make the working man feel he is in the lap of luxury on the way to his drab job.

Wide Streets
Moscow is lined with giant squares, wide streets, green belts of parks, river, recreation areas and other sites which aid in the control of pollution while at the same time providing areas that are both aesthetic and functional.

In front of the University of Moscow is a walkway that overlooks the city of Moscow. One looks out across a recreation area, a giant stadium, a river, trees and sees in the distance the buildings of the city. Right at the edge of the walkway are two ski jumps which people were enjoying on that warm, sunny July morn. There wasn't any snow, but they had a lot of green grass and sand at the bottom where the jumpers landed.

Don Reid of Huntsville was extremely interested in prison reform and crime rates. But I must admit that he failed to receive many answers to his questions. He was told that major crime is not a problem in the Soviet Union, but "hooliganism" is rampant. United Press International representative Barry James told us there had been 96 executions during the year and they were all for "crimes

2,000 diamonds in it. Famous paintings abound as do the dresses worn by the czars of old Russia. The carriages driven by the czars also are on hand, as well as many other items of historical interest or intrinsic value.

Barry James told us that all Americans have special license plates for their cars, white. And the police can tell if the car belongs to a journalist, a member of the embassy, etc. They are limited to 25 miles from the embassy unless they have special permission.

They do not make much contact with the average Russian citizen. In fact the "American compounds" as the areas where Americans live are called are guarded by Soviet troops, not to watch the Americans so much but to keep Soviet citizens out of the compounds.

Our journey to Leningrad on the Red Arrow Express has been described in detail except for one thing. We went to the station late at night and waited on the bus until everything was ready. Then we followed our two guides to the train. We were scattered out on this journey and walked through many groups of people. I guess I must not be too observant because one editor from our group described this portion of the trip as: "Being made to stay on the bus until they were ready for us, then we were led single-file to the car. We walked through hundreds of people who were drunk and lying on the ground, staggering around with hopeless expressions on their faces. It was a haunting memory."

I guess I will have to go back and make that journey at the same time so I can see what he saw, because I certainly failed to see it the first time.

Beautiful Leningrad
We remained in Leningrad Thursday, Friday and part of Saturday. It is a beautiful, old historical city, actually the pivotal city in the history of Russia. First it was Petrograd, named after Peter the Great, then it was called Stalingrad, and after the revolution and Stalin was downgraded following World War II they renamed it Leningrad.

The Neva River and the Gulf of Finland add the touch of water to Leningrad, as do the other 82 rivers and canals that course their way through the city.

Once they are married, according to our guide, they can become divorced, but with some difficulty. The more children they have the more difficult it becomes.

Our guide says there are many unwed mothers in the Soviet Union and they are not treated as outcasts by their society. If they decide to keep their baby, they may do so and continue to live in their own neighborhood.

Should they decide to place the baby for adoption, they must sign papers saying they will never reclaim the right to the child. It is then placed in a good home in some other city other than where it was born.

We visited the Armory Museum which is located within the Kremlin Walls and contains many dazzling things from one carat emeralds to a crown with

During World War II, Leningrad was occupied by the Germans and was 85 percent destroyed, losing approximately 1,000,000 people. It has since been rebuilt, but instead of bulldozing away the old buildings and erecting modern structures, the Soviets paid more money and rebuilt them in their original architectural design to preserve history.

The Hermitage is actually five buildings built near the Winter Palace which has 1057 rooms. Our feet sighed with relief when our guide, Emma, said we would not cover all the rooms on our tour. Decor is unbelievable, gold and silver adorned ballrooms, and fabulous art-a! in Russian, Italian, French, Dutch, Spanish. One exhibit required 20 tons of silver to make it. Another was a box adorned with precious stones for which an American once offered $1 million.

There are more than 3,000,000 items on display in the five buildings which cover two large city blocks. The guide explained: "If we stopped five minutes before each item it would take 19 years to complete the tour." We made it in about three hours.

The Palace holds a significant spot in the history of modern Soviet Union. It was here that the leaders were captured by the revolutionaries and placed in the prison of Peter and Paul Fortress, a forbidding place where political prisoners were held for many years. The last ones held there were the ones described above according to the guide.

Hotel Leningrad, where we stayed, was a better hotel than the Intourist. In fact, the people of Leningrad will tell you that everything they have is better than Moscow.

The second night there everyone except Patricia and I went to the ballet. They really enjoyed the performance which they described as being strikingly beautiful.

To The Circus
Meanwhile, Patricia and I caught a bus, loaded with tourists from England, and attended the circus. We thought it was to be in a special building, but when we arrived we found it to be a large tent on a vacant lot. We went in the wrong door and had a most difficult time finding our seats, but finally a young man who spoke no English (and needless to say, we spoke no Russian) took our tickets, told us to wait, in sign language, and hurried off. In a few seconds he was back beckoning for us to follow him to our seats. People were extremely polite, and from all the laughter we heard and the rapturous looks we saw on the faces of young and old alike, the Soviet people are oppressed only in the stories told in America.

The circus was a single ring, which is predominant in Europe; but the acts were very funny, except the one where two young ladies rode motorcycles at breakneck speeds inside a cage. The seats were hard, the night was hot and the closeness proved the a deodorant has not penetrated behind the Iron Curtain, but we thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

On Saturday we visited the Summer Palace of the Czars-Pedrovorets. Built by Peter the Great, the beautiful castle sits atop a hill overlooking the Gulf of Finland. It is surrounded by a beautiful green park of several hundred acres and throughout the area are hundreds of fountains. Each morning at 11 a.m., music begins playing and all the fountains are turned on in a beautiful ceremony. It is a sight difficult to describe.

This historical site also was captured by the Germans and almost completely destroyed by fire. Much of the castle is still under restoration today, so visitors only see about 10 rooms.

However, Peter preferred a small house on the edge of the gulf and there he spent much of his time while visiting Pedrovorets.

From Leningrad we flew to Kiev the capital of the Ukraine, which is known as the "breadbasket of the Soviet Union." The people there are fiercely independent and will tell you quickly that their city is prettier and has more to offer than Moscow. They are friendlier, warmer and dress gayer, perhaps because of the climate.

Since all the stores are

owned by the state in the Soviet Union, some of our group attributed the slowness of the some clerks to the fact that "they don't have any competition so why should they want to wait on you."

I found many of the clerks slow and indifferent, just like I have found in Hondo, San Antonio and other American cities. I also found some that were eager to help.

Extremely Helpful
For instance: The morning we left the hotel in Kiev I asked the little lady behind the news counter if I could exchange a paper ruble for a one ruble coin. She said in her broken English that she would not have change until 10 a.m. I told her that was all right, our bus left at 9 a.m. and thanked her.

She left the booth, went outside and down the sidewalk about 200 feet to a small kiosk. In a few minutes she returned with some change so she could give me a one ruble coin. I don't call that indifference, no matter who owns the store.

Kiev also suffered greatly at the hands of the Germans. It was captured and some 200,000 inhabitants were killed while about 100,000 others were marched off to Germany. Some 65 percent of the city was destroyed.

All in all the Soviet Union lost approximately 20,000,000 people during World War II and it seems to me that in the period of time since that war ended the people have come a long way in building their cities back to pre-war standards. And with a country losing so many people, one can imagine the great loss of skilled personnel. That is one reason why some many women hold down jobs.

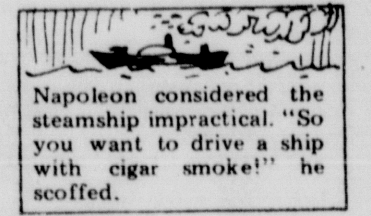

Patricia and I do not agree with the philosophy of the Soviet Union. We do not agree with the many atrocities they have committed throughout the world. And we agree with a

West German resident when he said: "The Soviet Union will go for detente so long as they can continue to accomplish their avowed goal of conquering the world short of war."

But we do feel the Soviet people have come a long way from their status under the czars and they have made giant strides of recovery since World War II. We believe that on a whole they are friendly as individuals and many of them expressed favorable reactions to Americans.

We also believe that the short eight days we were there combined with our limited exposure to the Soviet citizens, we would really be remiss to form any other conclusion.

We certainly would not want to live over there, but we wouldn't take anything for the opportunity of seeing the country and meeting as many of the people as we did meet.

Secondly, it was to recharge the Edwards Underground Reservoir. This past week, the dam, which was dedicated earlier this year, accomplished both goals. The water stood at 19 1/2 feet on the dam, left picture, at the high point. Then three days later the backed up water looked like the picture on the right. "It held the water back from the D'Hanis area," E. L. ## Folklife Festival to feature local talent Sept. 13-15

The two cultures of French Texans -- Cajun and Alsatian -- will be spot lighted at the third annual Texas Folklife Festival, Sept. 12-15, and a Corn Shucking Contest will provide the "action."

The "Window of the World" will open to the public when 26 ethnic culture groups gather on the grounds of the UTSA Institute of Texan Cultures for Texas Biggest Block Party.

The state festival is a 15-acre showcase of folk musical fare, old country cuisine, arts, crafts, games and contests of the various cultures that contributed to the growth of Texas. The Hondo Corn Shucking Champions, Charles Halbardier, Chris Heyen and Cappy Heyen will challenge all comers at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, September 15, in what was described last year as the "action highlight of the festival."

The wild, zany Cajuns from the Port Arthur Cajun Festival, under chairman W. T. Oliver of Bridge City, are back by popular demand for their third appearance.

"Cajun Land" will jump with toe-tappin' Cajun music, spicy food, humor, love and laughter that distinguish the Cajuns.

The star of Cajun cuisine, gumbo, will be prepared in a 450-gallon cooker over 200-years-old. Chicken sausage and shrimp gumbo will give repeat festival visitors the chance to taste the different varieties of the spicy Cajun soup, along with Cajun hot links and a unique old-time rice dressing.

The cooking team will be headed by W. O. Oliver, Ethel Foux of Beaumont, and James "Oink" Theriot of Port Arthur.

Songs such as "Jole Blonde" and "Las pala patat" played by a lively Cajun band will make everyone want to join in the fais-do-do (street dancing).

Huge shrimping nets will be strung above a transplanted marsh where O. D. LaBove of Sabine Pass will demonstrate duck and geese calling and give hunting enthusiasts tips and encouragement.

Souvenir hunters can find crawfish pins and silk screened Cajun Country T-shirts.

Visitors can watch Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bertrand, "Monsieur and Madame Cajun", of Beaumont demonstrate the Cajun two-step and waltz.

Other special guests will be Miss Vicki Suire, the Cajun Festival Queen, and Joe Thibodeaux, owner of the Rodair Club in Port Arthur is well known as a spokesman for the proud Acadians. He explained the Cajuns successfully colonized Port Royale in 1605 but were exiled by the English in 1775.

Today most Cajuns live in 12 parishes in southern Louisiana with many migrating to Southeast Texas lured by jobs in the oil refineries in the Port Arthur, Beaumont and Galveston region.

When you visit the Cajuns they hope you will remember that their laughter, warmth and friendliness comes from a long history of hard work and heartbreak that make them value their every happy moment.

Three officially sanctioned Texas Crawfish Racing Commissioners Jim Brand and Buddy Porter of Port Neches and A. J. Judice of Port Arthur will conduct exciting crawfish races all four days.

The Alsatians from Castroville will return with an expanded menu and new entertainment.

An Oompah Band from Castroville will play and two accordionists will provide folk music at the Alsatian booth.

For spectators seeking more quiet pursuits the Alsatians have set aside an area to play "pitch" which has been described as a poor man's bridge game.

The Castroville booth will be styled after a typical Alsation house with a high pitched roof to shed the snow and shield the house from the Texas sun. The stork, nesting on the roof, is an Alsatian good luck sign and the folk art on the sides of the booth is typical, the rooster being a favorite decorative motif.

The Alsatians have developed a culture that brings together the best of the German and French culinary efforts.

Using recipes brought to Texas in 1844-1846 by Alsatian pioneers their festival menu includes "Pastette" (a pork pie); Castroville Venison Sausage, "Kugelpopf" (a coffee cake) and "Paresa", ground sirloin cooked with grated cheese and served on crackers to be washed down with cold beer.

Over 136 volunteers in typical Alsatian costumes from Castroville will man the Alsatian booth with Conny Suehs as coordinator. Bill Stege will be in charge of work shifts; Barbara Tondre will be music and technical advisor; Charles B. Suehs will handle food.

Bright Blue Flame Sign Of Efficiency

AUSTIN--Liquid petroleum gas users may be able to save on both energy and money with a simple check of their gas flames, according to the Consumer Services Division of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Users of LP gas should check all gas flames to determine if they are burning at their most efficient levels.

The flame on a gas burner, should be a bright blue and solid all around the burner.

If the flame is pale blue with yellow, orange or white in it, it is not set correctly and is getting too much air. Nearly 500,000 Texas mobile home owners and 134,000 farmers use liquid petroleum gas, while 74 percent of the wells and farm pick-ups in the state are run on LP gas.

Owls vs Fredericksburg

tight end, Mike Groff (192); quarterback, Bobby Rios (162); fullback, Tony Hackebell (190); tailback, Paul Pope (162); and wingback, Richard Coronado (160).

When the Owls take the defense they will face the Billie offense with these personnel:

"We came off the scrimmage with Floresville in good shape physically," Coach Howard said. "But I can't say as much for our play there. We were just fair."

"Although we did not do an overall good job, we did contain Floresville's speed and hold them to only one score. We made one score also, moving the ball real well on the initial drive."

"But there is one thing certain," he concluded. "We must do a much better job Friday night against Fredericksburg if we intend to do any good."

SPORT FACTS

Ralph Hauger

Defensive end Fred Dryer of the Los Angeles Rams is a casual dresser. The equipment manager of the team, Don Hewitt, commented on why the club switched from white T-shirts to gray.

He said: "Nobody wants to take a gray shirt home except Dryer. To Fred a gray shirt is a dress shirt."

Chapman wins Labor Day tournament

Jim Chapman of San Antonio came back to Hondo over the weekend -- and all the golfers participating in the annual Labor Day Weekend Invitational Golf Tournament rued the day.

Chapman successfully defended his title by beating out Jim Macnak of Austin, and in doing so walked away with the top prizes for the second straight year. He also took both the Virgil Krenmueller and Charlie Finger trophies for the second time in a row. Jim Macnak won medalist honors.

Only two golfers from the Hondo area took any honors. Jerry Lopez of Hondo was runner-up in the fourth flight consolation bracket, while Leroy Langford, a Sabinal resident who is a member of the Hondo Golf Association, won the fifth flight consolation.

Harold Leinweber of San Antonio won the championship consolation flight over runner-up Dudley Butler of San Antonio.

Second Flight--William Burgess of Houston, winner; Jim Keller of San Antonio, runner-up; Jesse Wright of Houston, consolation winner; Carl White of San Antonio, runner-up.

Third Flight--C. McDaniel of Kerrville, winner; Mike Green of Huntsville, runner-up; I. McDougal of San Antonio, consolation winner; Lee Williams of San Antonio, runner-up.

Fourth Flight--C. Renfrow of San Antonio, winner; B. Daviaw of San Antonio, runner-up; G. DeSpain of San Antonio consolation winner; Jerry Lopez of Hondo, runner-up.

Fifth Flight--County Commissioner A. J. Ploch of San Antonio, winner; Bexar County Sheriff Bill Hauck, runner-up; Leroy Langford of Sabinal, consolation winner; Keith Burson of Houston, runner-up.

THE BIG ONES . . . Jim Chapman, champion two years in a row at the Hondo Golf Course Labor Day Invitational Tournament, shows off the trophies he won by taking his second straight title. With him are trophy he sponsors; in front of Chapman is the tournament trophy; and Charlie Finger is fronted by the trophy he sponsors. This marks the first time ever that any golfer has been able to take both trophies.

TOP WINNERS . . . Jim Chapman, right, took it all at the Hondo Labor Day Golf Tournament. He won the tournament his second year in a row by beating Jim Macnak, center. Both are from San Antonio. H. Leinweber, left, of San Antonio, won consolation in the championship flight, while Dudley Butler of San Antonio was runner-up.

Facts about Raye Theatre now for sale

My folks reached a point where they had to retire. My time is already full and I have a family I want to enjoy, so I have no time to run the Raye.

I permitted the Raye to be leased on a temporary basis to allow a six month $5,000 real estate commission to expire. Which means I can sell the Raye for $5,000 less than before. We think it a good business and one that can be built up to a better level. What material things the Ray Jennings have come from the Raye Theatre, no where else. See John H. Jennings. Adv.
